

Keeping South London's homeless
safe from the cold

robes 10

2007 ~ 2017

Robes Project is a grassroots charity providing shelter, advice and warmth over the cold winter months to the homeless in South London.

The risk of homelessness has never been greater than it is today.

In response to this, as Robes Project enters the 10th year of operation, we have expanded our efforts to increase the night shelter from 20 to 35 beds.

For as long as there are homeless people in South London, Robes Project will be there for them.
